Ailing Heart May Hamper Gov. Long

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long's ailing heart threatened Thursday to thwart his plans to open a re-election campaign on Saturday. Oxygen tanks were in readiness in his room here, if needed.

One of his doctors, Dr. Edgar Hull, was asked by newsmen what the rigors of a campaign might do to Long's health. "I prefer not to talk about that," he replied.

The 63-year-old governor, spinning about like a top despite doctors' efforts to slow him down, scheduled four Fourth of July speeches.

Slight Failure

But Wednesday he choked up with what doctors first thought was a periodic attack of the asthma from which he suffers. Later, however, Dr. Victor Lief, described the illness as a slight heart failure.

Dr. Hull emphasized that the heart failure was not as grave as an actual heart attack. Long suffered a heart attack in 1950 while chasing a hog.

Technically, Long is ineligible under Louisiana law to a second consecutive term as governor. However, he hopes to get around the limitation by qualifying for election, then resigning for a brief interim.

Long continued to drive himself through a 20-hour day, running affairs of state from a motel room. He has made his headquarters here since he freed himself from a mental institution, where his wife committed him as a mental patient June 18.

Nervous Breakdown

Long's doctors are treating him for a nervous breakdown, rather than insanity.

During the day, Gov. Long's public relations adviser and long-time associate, Cora Russel Schley, said through an attorney that she had held $7,000 of Long's money in what she described as a campaign fund cache in an Alexandria, La., safe deposit box. She said she forwarded the money to him more than a month ago.

Mrs. Schley earlier in the week said that federal tax agents were investigating Long's income. Political sources in Baton Rouge, the state capital, said Washington has thrown more agents into the investigation than ever before have been marshalled in Louisiana.

Long originally was committed May 30 to a health institution at Galveston, Tex.

The governor blamed his wife for his commitment and has started separation proceedings against her. He accused her of "burning up with jealousy."

Long's wife, Blanche, married to him for 26 years, has started a countersuit.

THE TRAVELERS—This scene, will become only a memory if the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad's request to the Interstate Commerce Commission is granted. ### E.S. Group To Protest Trains

THE EAST STROUDSBURG Business Assn. held its monthly meeting last night at the Municipal Building in East Stroudsburg.

A motion was carried to write a letter to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, the Interstate Commerce Commission and The Daily Record protesting the stoppage of Trains number 26 and number 11.

Another letter will be sent to the Greyhound Bus Co. inquiring as to whether they intend to restore service to East Stroudsburg.

Other discussions were held on the possibility of a new lighting system for the streets of the East Stroudsburg business area.

Jay Sleep reported on the Laurel Blossom Festival and said that the East Stroudsburg float was well received.

Distribution of the newly printed East Stroudsburg Shopping Directories was also discussed.

NEA Receives Lecture On Public Relations Plans

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A college professor gave his fellow educators a stern lecture on public relations Thursday, and told them to face up to the economic facts of life.

It isn't enough just to ask the American public to spend more money on schools, said Dr. John S. Corballis Jr., of Ohio State University.

"We must be prepared to show why we need more money, what we would do with more money, and how it would result in improved quality of public education."

He told a study session at the annual convention of the National Education Assn.: "If, for example, we doubled teachers' salaries, would we really improve the quality of teaching or would we merely raise the teacher's standard of living?"

"We must be able to talk about increasing the quality of education rather than about increasing salaries, reducing the teacher load or buying more supplies."

Most of the 30,000 Defense Department workers are now home, giving them an early start on the July 4th weekend.

Thirty-four pieces of fire equipment and 300 firemen rallied from the District of Columbia and nearby Virginia and Maryland communities. The Pentagon, headquarters of America's far-flung armed services, is in Arlington, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington.

Before Noon

Breaking out just before noon, the flames were brought under control about three hours later.

The fire was believed to have started from defective electrical wiring.

The blaze centered in the Air Force statistical center on the first floor of the massive building. Here are located 30 million dollars worth of computing machines and great stores of recording tape.

There were various reports, but officials said they would be unable to assess the dollar damage—or to determine the exact nature of what was lost—until they could get into the burned area.

The center contains personnel records, as well as secret data.

One officer said at least 7,000 acetate tapes containing classified information had been lost. He said it would take from 5 to 10 years to replace them, if they could be gotten.

Other department officials reported none of the expensive data-processing machines in the burned area had been salvaged.

"Some classified papers were destroyed," they said without disclosing what type of secret material was involved.

The fire was confined to an area of a few thousand square feet

Walkouts Slow Steel Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts of the United Steelworkers of America to halt a rash of wildcat strikes Thursday slowed contract negotiations between the union and 12 major steel producers.

Morning and afternoon talks had been scheduled, but the latter was called off. A joint announcement said there would be a recess until Friday while the union high command sought to get the strikers back to work.

Up to 30,000 had quit work in various areas Wednesday despite a two-week extension of the present contract, requested by President Eisenhower, to permit time for more negotiations.

The walkouts took place at the time the old pact normally would have expired.

High Command

The union's high command quickly sent out word for the men to get back on the job, and officials said more than half had returned by Thursday morning.

Some 3,700 union members on Great Lakes ore-carrying ships later were called back to work.

Union President David J. McDonald said those still out included 9,000 employees of Republic Steel in Cleveland.

There has been little progress in negotiations being carried on here by four-man teams representing the union and the 12 steel companies. The companies employ 500,000 union members and produce 90 per cent of the nation's steel.

The union is seeking a package increase estimated unofficially at 15 to 20 cents an hour. The present hourly wage averages $3.10.

A wage freeze has been demanded by the industry on the contention that it would help curb inflation and fight foreign competition.

Red Official Reminds U.S. Of Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov warned Thursday the Soviet Union would meet force with force if the Western Allies resort to military action in the Berlin crisis.

Kozlov, switching from his role as Moscow's good-humored salesman, coupled these blunt words with renewed demands the West accept the Kremlin's formula for making West Berlin a Communist-ruled city.

If not, he said, the U.S.S.R. would ignore Western protests and sign a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany "with all the consequences."

The visiting Russian leader spoke out in a speech beamed coast-to-coast on television.

The center contains personnel records, as well as secret data.

One officer said at least 7,000 acetate tapes containing classified information had been lost. He said it would take from 5 to 10 years to replace them, if they could be gotten.

SCHEDULED TO GO—This is Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Train 1, which the railroad has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to drop. meets next Tuesday night.

Stroudsburg's governing body does not meet again until Aug. 4.

Edward Doran, burgess of Stroudsburg, does not believe the Stroudsburg Council will take steps to stop the proposal.

Jesse Flory, East Stroudsburg burgess, says everything depends upon the coming council meeting.

Such action would have to come at a meeting of the borough council.

Stroudsburg Borough Council met Wednesday night and the subject of the trains was not discussed.

East Stroudsburg Borough Council, which several months ago filed a protest when a rumor started that the railroad would curtail service,

Flory sees it as an economic proposition for the railroads.

"You can't expect the railroad to run its operations at a loss nor without subsidy from the government," he said.

Furthermore, he believes that this is only a beginning.

He questions whether many people actually use the trains or that new industry is in fact concerned with railroad connections.

"Quite a loss to the community," said Burgess Doran. "The railroads seem to have an epidemic or fever."

He sees the proposed dropping as a way for the DL&W to show a profit since the railroads never did show any financial gain on their passenger service.

The railroad company has set the proposed date of discontinuing the two trains for July 27.

Any action from the two boroughs will have to take place before this date.

"FOR NOW WE LOOK THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY"—The National Safety Council predicts that 350 persons will die on our roads this Fourth of July. Newspaper photographers will see scenes like this through their lenses across the nation this weekend. Take time to stay happy, and give the photos a chance to "shoot" pretty girls and picnics. The above photo is of an old wreck . . . let's keep it that way.

Senate Postpones Final Foreign Aid Vote After Ike Gains Development Bill Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Thursday night postponed a final vote on the foreign aid bill after handing President Eisenhower a victory in a dispute over the Development Loan Fund.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas won agreement to put off any further roll-call votes until next Tuesday and to limit debate then on amendments and the multibillion-dollar bill itself.

A key action in the day-long session came when the Senate approved a two-year, two-billion-dollar program for foreign development loans requiring financing by Congress. That amounted to a victory for Eisenhower.

It was a compromise brought out by Democratic and Republican leaders as a substitute for a Treasury-financed, five-year, five-billion-dollar program backed by Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

But while it was written into the multibillion-dollar foreign aid bill by voice vote, the compromise did not satisfy Fulbright and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Sunday School Lesson

Isreal To Be People Separate From Nations

By Newman Campbell

The scripture assignment for this lesson covers so much material that it is difficult to confine it to a half hour of teaching.

Dr. Wilbur M. Smith, editor and commentator of Peloubet's Select Notes, suggests that the younger classes "be reminded that in everything we do, if it is to succeed, we must know and follow the laws of nature."

disobeyed, will bring our lives in ruin."

The older classes, Dr. Smith suggests, might be reminded that as the laws of health demand that our bodies be given nourishment for us to survive, our moral conduct is also subject to laws—the laws and commandments of God—or we may fall into ruin.

All the events and discourses in the book of Deuteronomy can be placed at the end of Moses' life, which was somewhere near 1400 B.C., we are told.

Moses called all the Israelites to him and said: "Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgments which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep, and do them. The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Horeb,

These were the words of the Lord our God: "Thou shalt not make thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters beneath the earth."

"Deut. 5:8.

These were the words of the Lord our God: "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh His name in vain."

Considering how men, and often women, disobey this command, wonder if they ever had any Bible teaching.

"Keep the Sabbath day to sanctify it, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee. Six days thou shalt labour, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God."

"Deut. 5:13.

Then Moses reminded them that the Lord had talked to them "face to face" in the mount, saying, "I am the Lord and I will be with you always, even unto the end of the world."

This may be somewhat difficult for some mothers of teenagers who are always hungry.

If they grew wealthy, Moses warned, "Then thine heart be lifted up, and the forget the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before Me.

"Thou shall not make thee any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the waters beneath the earth."

"Deut. 5:8.

These commands of the Lord which Moses said, should be taught to all a man's sons (and daughters) and talked over with them constantly.

If young people are brought up in an atmosphere where God's laws are obeyed, and made to understand them, it is difficult to believe that they will go astray and become what the modern world calls "hoodlums," ruining their own lives and the happiness of those near them.

God did not set His love upon you, nor choose you, because ye were more in number than any people," said Moses.

"But because the Lord loved you, and because He would keep the oaths which He had sworn unto your fathers."

Deut. 7:7-8.

The Lord loves us, too, so let us strive our best to deserve His love by obeying His laws.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Capuano will welcome the worshippers at the front door of the sanctuary. Mrs. William Schoonover and Mrs. William Crooks have volunteered to care for children in the nursery during the holy hour.

ALMIGHTY GOD, in Whose love and eternal care this world has found its sole meaning and ultimate destiny, bless this House.

In the exercise of a holy freedom our people have chosen that man who with his helpmate here abides. Whether we support or oppose his policies, lead us to uphold him in his sacred duty, to the preservation of our Constitution and the safeguard of our liberties.

Strengthen him and his counsellors in the fulfilment of their trust. Enlighten both his supporters and his loyal opposition in every search for the best solution to the problems that beset our nation and our world. Preserve the peace, never letting the flame of freedom flicker for one moment in our hearts.

And guide the families of our land to the Sources of Light and Life and Love, multiplying the influence of the Bible, extending the witness of the Church . . . that the blessing we invoke upon this House may permeate every home in a dedicated America.

Amen.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Words With Meaning Or Beguiling Music, Which?

All the fine things said in support of the Keystone Shortway are pleasing to the ear for those people residing in the northern half of Pennsylvania, but they will have a hollow meaning until the dirt begins to fly along the proposed 291-mile route.

Gov. David Lawrence, Highways Secretary Park Martin and Forests and Waters Secretary Maurice Goddard—three top-echelon state officials—all have come out publicly for construction of the superhighway linking Stroudsburg on the east with Sharon in the west.

Governor Favors It

Not the least vocal among the supporters has been the Governor himself. The other day during a trip to his home city of Pittsburgh to help dedicate the Fort Pitt Bridge, Mr. Lawrence remarked:

"The greatness of our Northern Tier counties will emerge when the Keystone Shortway becomes a reality. And we will not rest until it is!"

This followed a statement he made in March to the effect that the Shortway Belt "has not shared fully in the prosperity of 20th Century America" because of the lack of good highway transportation facilities.

Then, holding out a ray of hope, Gov. Lawrence declared:

"I foresee an era of industrial and population rejuvenation for Northern Pennsylvania as—section by section—this superhighway is completed. It will help bring to this section of the state a new prosperity, which is of such importance to all the people of the Northern Tier counties."

Playland Possibilities

Dr. Goddard pegged his remarks to the development of Northern Pennsylvania for recreational purposes, observing that "this potential vacation-land has never been fully exploited."

The secretary noted that "many visitors to Pennsylvania—indeed, many Pennsylvanians themselves—have passed our northern mountains by, for more accessible vacation lands.

"Even the popular Poconos, while easily reached from New York and Philadelphia, are difficult to get to from the West," he said.

In my estimation, the Keystone Shortway will alter this fluke of geography. The first few motorists who cross the state on the Shortway will see for themselves the great hidden beauty away in the heart of Pennsylvania and they will return later with their families to stay a while."

Dr. Goddard predicted that "the Poconos, traditional playground of the East, will become a vacation-land for the Midwest, too, when the Shortway is finished."

Highways Secretary Martin has tied his support for the Shortway to his demands that millions of dollars in new revenue be raised to finance this and other projects on the federal Interstate highway system.

He recognizes the tremendous impact the Shortway will have on the area's economy through industrial redevelopment and is anxious, he has indicated, to give higher priority to the project provided the necessary funds are raised.

Davlin Support, Too

A fourth state official, Commerce Secretary William R. Davlin, is on record in support of the Shortway, which, he said, will "open small town Pennsylvania, the very areas that stand most in need of economic redevelopment."

We believe all these comments are genuine, that they represent the honest thinking of the officials who made them.

If they are otherwise, if for example they were made simply to encourage support for the Administration's tax program, the statements should be considered solely in the light of their intent.

State officials can prove their sincerity to the people of the Shortway Belt by moving with greater speed in getting actual construction under way. Further procrastination cannot be tolerated.

DO YOU RECALL when horses and buggies outnumbered automobiles at area resorts and elsewhere? This scene, taken in front of Echo Lake House on Route 209, was a common one a half century ago. It shows Clarence Van Allen at the wheel of shiny new car in back of two-horse surrey and one-horse buggy.

Questions First

Dear Abby: I am a widower who is marrying a widow as soon as we can agree on a date. I have enough money to live comfortably and I know she has, too. We each have children and grandchildren by our former mates.

My lawyer suggested I have her sign papers stating that if I die first I will provide generously for her—but my own children will inherit my money. I am willing to sign a statement stating if she dies first, she can leave everything she has to her own children. Will I insult her if I make this request?

SECOND MARRIAGE.

Dear Second: Your lawyer's suggestion is sensible and I advise you to follow through. If the lady objects, she is no lady.

DISGUSTED

Dear Abby: What has become of the machine permanent wave? I have paid all sorts of high prices for permanent waves and they are no good—any of them—for fine hair. After one shampoo, the wave is gone. Could you advise me, please?

VERY WORRIED

Dear Disgusted: Occasionally an old-fashioned permanent wave machine can be seen gathering dust in the back room of a modern beauty parlor. Ask the manager if there is anyone who is old enough to do it.

TAKEN

Dear Abby: A couple in town invited two other couples to dinner and the theatre on a Dutch-treat basis. He is an executive with a very large and well-known business firm. The "host" and "hostess" charged all the dinner to his company (as a "business expense" I presume) and we learned later from a reliable source that they got the theatre tickets the same way. This trick was performed by people who want to assume leadership in our community. How do we show our disapproval and how cheap is cheap?

DEAR TAKEN: If you feel you have been "taken" you can show your disapproval by having nothing more to do with these people. Nobody knows how cheap cheap is, but sometimes it's pretty expensive.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please print this in the paper as soon as possible? VERY WORRIED

Dear Worried: Take your daughter to a doctor and let him examine her and recommend the proper diet. Radical and unsupervised dieting is more dangerous than most people realize.

Children's Aid Society Asks County For Over $41,000

Request Set Down In Two Divisions

CHILDREN'S Aid Society of Monroe County yesterday asked Monroe County Commissioners for $10,702 to help cover 1959-1960 administrative expenses and $30,933 for direct care costs to foster children.

Last year the county budgeted $8,400 for the society's administrative costs and $30,100 for the direct care program. The county had already set aside even less for 1959-1960 in both cases, it was reported.

Direct care covers board, clothing and medical care for foster children in the county.

Society Report

A society report showed the county is paying only $13.50 of the $16 needed each week to support one child in a home. A. J. Molitor, the society's executive secretary, said the difference was being made up through other funds. Monroe County Community Chest, the only other body which contributes to the society's program, gave $11,000 last year.

According to the county code, it is the responsibility of the county to maintain any foster children in its jurisdiction.

From September, 1958 to May, 1959, the county paid $12.60 a week for each of 58 foster children placed in 30 foster homes.

The 1959-1960 proposed budget presented by the society showed the raise request over this past year is needed because of the increase in administrative salaries and the rising cost of the direct care program.

The report stated direct care costs have gone up because of the increased cost of group living. LeRoy J. Koehler, society treasurer, said the extra salary will be needed for a part-time social worker to replace a member of the present staff.

Molitor said the $16 per week for each foster child covers the cost of locating a home and administrative work as well as board, clothes and medicine. He said Pike County, which has contracted with the society for children's aid work, is being charged the $16 rate and that there is no extra cost to Monroe County for this outside work.

Total Cost

Total cost to the county for child welfare care in 1958, including cases outside the scope of the children's aid society, was $46,206.20.

A comparison of recent yearly budgets for the society showed that it received $11,000 from Community Chest and $7,500 from the county institution district for a total of $18,500 toward administrative costs in 1957-1958.

In 1958-1959 the society requested $12,907 from Community Chest and $8,400 from the county for a total of $21,307 toward administrative costs.

Figures compiled for the first nine months of the society's present financial year showed expenditures of $8,244 of the Community Chest's money and $6,300 of the county's.

Because the Community Chest could give only $11,000 to the society this past year, the society will ask for only another $11,000 in 1959-1960 toward administrative costs, along with the $10,702 from the county, officials said.

Although all the Community Chest's money to the society has been budgeted under administrative work, it is apparent that some of it has been spent for the direct care program.

Molitor said it has been only within recent years that the society has tried to figure out exactly how much the program costs for each child for one week. Thus the $16 figure as compared with the $13.50 the county will be paying toward the program under the society's 1959-1960 budget.

Molitor also reported the society has received from the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania $600 for the maintaining of one emergency foster home with two beds. He said it will be kept open at all hours for rush placements.

State Officials Discuss Area Detours In Meeting With Chamber Of Commerce

of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce met yesterday morning with officials of the state Department of Highways concerning some method of making driving easier for motorists visiting this area considering all road construction and detours that are now impeding traffic flow.

Attending the meeting from the C of C were Harold E. Snyder, Stroudsburg Borough Manager; Clifford Cramer, Leroy Mikels, C of C president, Jesse Flory, East Stroudsburg Borough burgess, and William Altier, representing the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau and Resort Assn.

Officials from the Highway Department were Sidney Blum, R. A. Schlegel, and William Winkler.

In opening the meeting, Cramer told the officials that travel for motorists in this area is especially difficult at the present time with the detours at the Delaware Water Gap bridge and also around the site of the new Inter-Borough bridge.

Schools To Break Ground Next Week

GROUNDBREAKING ceremonies for the new additions to the Smithfield and Middle Smithfield Schools will take place Thursday, July 9, it was announced last night at the meeting of the East Stroudsburg Area Joint School Board.

The Smithfield groundbreaking will take place at 7 p.m. on that date, and the Middle Smithfield groundbreaking will be held at 8 p.m.

The complete program for the ceremonies will be announced next week in the Daily Record.

A letter from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College was reported by board Secretary Tilman Courtright, in which a request was made by the college for the use of Memorial Stadium for two games this season. The exact dates were not revealed in the letter.

Resignations

The resignations of two teachers were accepted by the board last night.

The resignation of Edward Parsons, a general science teacher, and Mrs. Emma Lou Widmer, a grade school teacher, were unanimously accepted by the board.

Three teachers were approved for appointment by the board for the coming school year. They are Michael Jacobella, for the Middle Smithfield School; Mrs. Thelma Clark, for the Smithfield School, and Henry F. Peters, to teach general science in the J. M. Hill Junior High School.

The problem, Altier said, is one of erecting large directional signs that name places as well as routes.

Burgess Flory then explained the present detour over the bridge and said the detour between the two boroughs is "practically impossible" to be used to any degree by any large group of vehicles.

Altier then spoke explaining that "tens of thousands of persons are entertained" in this area during the tourist season, and he said hotels are now reserved full and will remain so until mid-August.

When these people arrive in this area, Altier said, they will not have adequate directions to arrive at their destinations.

The economics of the area, he said, is based to a large extent upon the vacation industry, and the incoming traffic problem will seriously impair this economy.

Altier pointed out the problem is most acute at Delaware Water Gap, where, he said, three lanes of traffic should be maintained for those cars entering this area.

Mrs. Clara Smith, Age 87, Succumbs In Newfoundland

NEWFOUNDLAND—Death Wednesday night parted an area couple who last summer received the community fair award for having been married the longest number of years.

Mrs. Clara Waltz Smith, 87, wife of David B. Smith, 89, died at her home at 11 p.m. Wednesday.

Mrs. Smith was born in Dresher Township, and had spent all her life in the Newfoundland area. She was the daughter of George L. and Magdalana Robacker Waltz, early residents of Newfoundland.

The Smithfield groundbreaking will take place at 7 p.m. on that date, and the Middle Smithfield groundbreaking will be held at 8 p.m.

'Tunnel Of Love' On Stage At Ross Common

By Harlan Stone
THE DIALOGUE by Joseph Fields and Peter DeVries in "Tunnel of Love" is a tour-de-force. Witty, sophisticated, it makes a good excuse for hearing again about the exurbanites who seem to have made themselves the subject of most present day literature and social writing.

The show is in its first week at Ross Common playhouse, near Saylorsburg.

But, "Tunnel of Love" is a verbal comedy. Don't expect anything revealing or concerning. There is a wonderful bit of entertainment here, but it is a play of the moment.

The performance by Producer Bunker Jenkins group of New York's professional actors, however, is worth pausing over and considering. They do very well with the material at hand, and if one cannot become too concerned over the childless marriage of Augie and Isolde Poole, or the immorality of their stud-like friend Dick Pepper, it is because these people are stereotypes.

Any depth this play has at Ross Common is supplied by Dick Turman who plays Augie. He is equally at ease showing tenderness, slapsick, weariness and embarrassment and several other moods in the gamut of feelings. His accompanying facial expressions give a welcomed breath and variety to the play.

Upon first appearance Turman's Augie takes on the aspect of a badgered, unsuccessful husband, helpless before the parking tickets his wife brings home and the rising cost of college tuition. He has been through it all before. He manages to evoke sympathy with his half hearted attempts to live with this world too big for him.

But when he takes his friend Dick Pepper's advice to make up to a lady investigator from the adoption agency, his personality is submerged in the uniformity of the cast of characters conceived by the authors.

Not until his wife discovers that the baby they have adopted is really her husband by the lady investigator does Augie become a real person again. He becomes pathetic and pitiable as he tries to cover up his one mistake from the moral world of suburbia.

Bill Weston as Dick Pepper, the foot-loose husband, is properly cynical and blunt as he rushes breathlessly about the stage planning his next moves to subvert society. Together he and Turman with their exaggerated gestures and ready answers give a feeling of spontaneity to the glittering repartee of the dialogue.

By contrast Joan Lancaster as Isolde Poole is unsatisfying. Her stage gestures, because they are consciously underplayed perhaps, appear wooden. A tendency to read her lines in a poor-little-lost-girl voice and a continuous wide-eyed expression made her seem out of place in the otherwise laughing and gripping cast of characters.

Augie is supplied by Alice Pepper, the mother of four children, is good. So are Pat Gibson as the seemingly pertinacious investigator from the adoption agency, and Johnnie Gruber as another investigator of the motherly, inquisitive type.

There was no false scenery by Frank Burritt, only the real things, because spectators sections on two sides of the stage do not allow for illusions with much success. The setting in a reconverted barn at Westport, Conn., was quite in place in the reconstructed barn where Ross Common Playhouse has season, ending Jan. 2, 1960.

"Tunnel of Love" as a play amounts to a program of gentle satire on all those things we hold sacred — psychology, the girl scouts, the better Eastern colleges, the Bible and Professor Kinsey.

The cast does a fine job of putting across the spirit of the play. If this is any indication, players are in for some rewarding theatrical moments at Ross Common this Summer.

Miss Virginia M. Frable Bride Of Ronald Adams

Frable, Stroudsburg R. D. #3, was married to Ronald E. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Adams of Star Route, Brodheadsville, on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. June 20.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Clyde Levergood at St. Lukes Methodist Church, McIlhenny.

In the altar vases were white peonies, and baskets of white peonies and roses decorated the church. The family pews were marked with white bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over silk taffeta fashioned with a mandarin collar. The fitted bodice was sprinkled with sequins, and the long sleeves, also of lace ended in points over her hands. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel sweep. Her finger tip veil was held by a scalloped pearl head piece. She carried a white Bible with white carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Elaine Adams of Easton, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of aqua nylon tulle with an underskirt of net and taffeta. Her headpiece was of pink carnations and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Shirley Anne Adams, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Donna Sandt, Tannersville; and Miss Pamela Conklin, RD 3, Stroudsburg, were bridesmaids. They wore ballerina-length gowns of pink net and tulle over taffeta, with neck bands of pink carnations and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and stephanotis.

Just Between Us —

— By Bobby Westbrook

There's no doubt the golf might have been better but the day couldn't have been for the Laurel Tournament. And the women at Glen Brook deserved it after lugging out their floral arrangements, fresh buns for breakfast and little sandwiches for half-way snacks two weeks in a row.

Once the clouds lifted, it was a beautiful day with the sky going all the way up for a change. There was a period when the clouds blowing past the sun so fast that they made a pattern on the fairways very much like a television screen when it flickers.

There was one delightful golf story I picked up which made me feel quite at home. Seems that one of the wives, having just started golf this Summer, was persuaded to play in the husband and wife tournament on Sunday.

After the match, the husband was being congratulated on her courage and stamina in tackling the 18 holes so early in her golf career. "Yes, indeed, she finished all 18 holes," he assured them proudly. "But what makes it even more remarkable, she played them all underground."

And all of us golfers know exactly what he meant. Well, we'll all be going underground in a different sense in the next few days. When the social calendar shrinks to practically nothing, you can be assured that the personal social calendars are filled to the bursting.

This is the weekend when the campers, the city tourists and the city relatives descend like a swarm of locusts—or bees, depending on whether they plan to live off the country or bring their own victuals with them.

In any case, they're welcome, and no matter how empty the refrigerator may be as we stand waving them off on Sunday night, at least we don't face that long drive home. Have a happy holiday, and don't get drowned, wrecked, or burned on the punk.

Miss Hard In Net Finals

Californian Smashes Way To Triumph

It doesn't seem feasible to hold a county-wide softball tournament with only three teams. But this is what the Keystone Softball Association has scheduled, starting Monday at the Stroudsburg playground field.

County softball commissioner Forest Fabel searched high and low for teams but only was able to come up with three—Tobysanna Signal Depot, Olympic-Kieper, and Three-Ring Pete.

Needless to say the above trio of squads are not the best in the county even though they will have players from other teams around. However Fabel wants the county represented in the KSA district runoffs and is willing to go along with the above to spell the area in that event.

The double-elimination tournament has little attraction aside local and area men are participating. From here the lines are drawn a little too tight to make a three-team classic for county laurels interesting enough to draw more than the usual turnout.

But you have to give Fabel and his aides credit for trying and nobody ever got into any harm by giving their best. But this time it appears the best is only in vain.

Teenage boys of Monroe County will have the opportunity to display their golfing prowess when the Pennsylvania State Junior Chamber of Commerce stages its annual Junior Golf Tournament at Hershey Golf Club, July 14-15.

The tournament is open to any Pennsylvania boy who will not have reached his 18th birthday by August 15, 1959, and who has been chosen by his local Junior Chamber of Commerce Chapter.

The contest will consist of 27 holes medal play, Wednesday, July 15, with the qualifying round to be played Tuesday, July 14.

The first four placers will be presented trophies and will be eligible for the national tournament at Portsmouth, Va., Aug. 23-29, with their expenses for the week-long event paid by the State Jaycees Tournament Committee.

For further information young linksmen may contact local Jaycees officials.

The annual Adelphi Cage Clinic will be held again this year at the Garden City, L. I., school, Aug. 17-19.

The staff will be composed of Ben Carnevale of Navy; Bones McKinney of Wake Forest; Lou Carnesca of St. John's University; Ralph Carlisle of Lexington, Ky., High School; John Longfellow of Muncie, Ind., High; and John Sipes of Huntington High, New York.

St. Louis Cardinals are holding a tryout camp today at Weatherly, Pa., with Red Bird Scout Ollie Vanek in charge.

Area boys wishing a tryout are requested to bring their own shoes and gloves. All other equipment will be provided by the Cards.

West End Rod and Gun Club will hold a meeting at the Chestnuthill Inn, Aug. 13, starting at 8:30 p.m. Plans will be made for the organization's game dinner and drawing which is slated for Oct. 17 from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the Chestnuthill Inn.

Penn State has added another game to its 1959 football schedule. Rip Engle's Nittany Lions will meet Virginia Military Institute at University Park, Sept. 26.

This brings to ten the number of foes Penn State will take on next fall.

Incidentally the Lions are moving rapidly toward the point of lining up the best schedule among Keystone college elevens. By 1962 State will be facing the tops in the nation Saturday after Saturday.

'Safari' Set For Archers

Win Sports Car Laurels

JUNGLE ANIMALS, tropical snakes and birds will be the bowman's quarry at the Pocono Archery Association's "Safari". The date for this gala affair is set for Sunday, July 5th.

There will be 28 lifelike targets depicting jungle wildlife in every form. The course is staked out to give the archer the feeling of shooting in dense jungle foliage. The 28 targets are at various distances from 20 feet to 80 yards, and placed under rough and difficult conditions. The event has the dual purpose of providing the archer with the necessary skill to deliver an arrow to the mark; and a prerequisite for a successful hunting trip with the bow. Although the course is not designed to be an arrow buster all are advised to bring along plenty of throw-aways.

The "Safari" will be open to all archery enthusiasts — members and non-members. Scoring will be based on shots placed in vital areas and "clean kills". Those who anticipate entering in this shoot should remember the event is for bare bow shooters, or the "instinctive group". Archers are classified in accordance with their ability and will compete with those in their class.

Sign Up At Noon

Registration will start at 12 noon and close at 1:30 p.m. Paul Daily will be in charge of registration and will be assisted by Ray Uhl and William Lee. Don Heller, Sr. will be the "white hunter" or field judge. Awards will be made in all classes.

Range will be closed at 4:00 p.m. Saturday afternoon and will remain closed until starting siren is sounded Sunday afternoon. This is a protective measure to safeguard the work party placing targets and readying range for the event.

The public is invited to join the "Safari" but must not enter the range unescorted. Small groups may accompany the shooters but must not leave the party until reaching a safety zone. In order to join a hunting party the public is advised to be on hand at starting time.
